

Latest Testing and Self-Isolation Arrangement for Crew

In regard of the latest testing and self-isolation arrangement for all air crew members effective from 01MAY2022, as shown in the table below, we would like to draw your immediate attention to remind all crew to strictly follow the conditions of arrival and subsequent self-isolation specified by the Department of Health.

^ Locally (Hong Kong) based & Non-Local based air crew employed by a local airline

1. Must have completed a COVID-19 vaccination course. Is required to receive a 3rd vaccine dose (or equivalent) if eligible to receive additional dose(s) of vaccines<sup>3</sup>.
2. Not allowed to be on board a flight to/from the Mainland/Macau according to his airline's roster, if he has been on board a flight (including a turnaround flight) to/from any place outside China or to/from Taiwan, China according to his airline's roster during the 14 days prior to his boarding the flight to/from the Mainland/Macau concerned.
3. All locally based air crew members on board a flight to/from a place outside of Hong Kong according to their airline's roster must be subject to the same period of self-isolation in a designated quarantine hotel ("DQH") room or a place of accommodation, when they seek to enter the local community upon their arrival in Hong Kong. In other words, a locally based air crew member must not be arranged by his airline to be on board the same flight with another locally based air crew member who will be subject to a different period of self-isolation, when they seek to enter the local community upon their arrival in Hong Kong.
4. If airlines choose to deploy local and non-local crew on the same passenger flight, then the local crew upon landing in HKG will be treated as inbound travelers. These local crew will not be able to continue in a close loop arrangement and will be required to self-isolate for 7 days in a DQH. Airlines should ensure the information declared the company declaration letter presented to DH's staff upon a locally based air crew member's arrival at HKIA is accurate.
