World's Best: HKBAC Crowned World's Leading FBO Terminal at the World Travel Awards

[16 January 2026 – Hong Kong] Hong Kong Business Aviation Centre (HKBAC) has been named World's Leading FBO Terminal at the 32nd World Travel Awards, marking a significant milestone not only for the airport, but for Hong Kong's role as a global centre for high-net-worth business and leisure travel.

The recognition reinforces Hong Kong's position as a super-connector for international commerce, where business aviation plays a vital role in supporting senior executive travel, cross-border investment, time-critical movements, and major global events. HKBAC sits at the forefront of facilitating high-value, business-led travel that directly contributes to Hong Kong's economic momentum and global relevance.

Widely regarded as the Oscar-level benchmark for excellence across the global travel industry, the World Travel Awards accolade places HKBAC among the most respected private aviation gateways worldwide and underscores the city's capability to deliver precision-led, premium travel experiences at scale.

"This is a moment that speaks to the city's confidence and the craft behind our services," said Vivien Lau, CEO of HKBAC. "Our intention has always been clear: to create the world class luxury aviation gateway, as efficient as Hong Kong at its best. What makes HKBAC exceptional is not just the environment, but the people who deliver it consistently, calmly, and with absolute focus."

Looking Ahead

Being named World's Leading FBO Terminal marks a new chapter for HKBAC. The organisation remains focused on advancing its terminal development programme, expanding service capabilities, and continuing to support Hong Kong's position as Asia's most trusted gateway for business and private aviation.

"This recognition raises the bar, for us and for the region," said Lau. "It resets expectations about Hong Kong and it reinforces our responsibility to keep moving forward."
